

Annie Smith

Every stitch tells a story. As a Quilt Imagineer, Annie Smith blends artistry, innovation, and heart to inspire quilters around the world through her teaching and lecturing both nationally and internationally.

Annie designs and publishes quilt patterns, authors with C&T Publishing, and produces online classes that bring creativity into homes across the globe. She proudly serves as a quilt judge and ambassador for NERNINA and Cherrywood Fabrics, and, as an Aurifilosopher, she explores the expressive power of Aurifil thread. Her pioneering podcast, Quilting Stash, was the first of its kind – igniting conversations and community in the quilting world.

Her work includes the “Bespoke Patchwork Skirt,” created in partnership with Fowl+Maker chainstitching, where wearable art meets storytelling. Whether she’s in the classroom, behind a mic, or in the studio, she celebrates quilting as a living, breathing art form.
